Congratulations to our Table Topics Winner!

Best Table Topics: Diana Lopez

Our theme for the night was "Sleep-Nap, R R R" created by our Table Topics Master for the night, Vidhya. She came up with interesting and thought-provoking questions. All of the members and guests who participated captured our attention by formulating personal, informative, or humorous responses in creative ways. The votes were close, according to our Trophy Master, David Drebsky!

President's Distinguished

Our club has qualified for President's Distinguished for the 8th consecutive year, fifteen times in the last seventeen years! Let's make it happen again this year!

A Recap of Last Week's Meeting

Last week we had another fun meeting at Simi Valley Toastmasters! We had guests from our local area and even from different time zones! Some of our guests have come so often, we feel like they are already members. 😊 We listened to a 20-minute speech given by Chitra, who makes presentation mastery look easy with her enthusiasm and passion. She presented on different styles of leadership and had us reflecting on the type of leadership that is best. It can be difficult to evaluate a great speech, but Joy was able to offer a lot of positive feedback with suggestions for improvement. Well done everyone!

Toastmasters Leadership Institute Club Officer Training

Several opportunities for officer training have been offered this month to train incoming officers in the roles and responsibilities for their new positions. This year, due to Covid-19 District 33 held a zoom training session attended by almost four hundred members ranging from the high desert areas to northern Central California. The great thing was we didn't have to drive anywhere!

There was another training held this weekend for any officers needing make-up training.

In the next few weeks, our club officers will meet and share a Club Success Plan with all the members so we can make Simi Valley Toastmasters the best for everyone involved.
